Gambling and Problem Gambling Prevalence Among College Students in Florida
July 2008

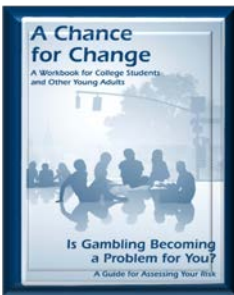

Gambling & Problem Gambling Prevalence Among College Students in Florida

The Florida Council on Compulsive Gambling (FCCG) contracted with the University of South Florida's Center for Research, Evaluation, Assessment, and Measurement (CREAM) to conduct a survey of Florida college students regarding their gambling practices and associated behaviors. This is the first study that focuses specifically on the gambling behavior of Florida college students. The information gathered from this research is intended to be helpful in policy formation, in guiding future research, and in the development of prevention and treatment programs for college students.

RESOURCES FOR PROBLEM GAMBLERS

Financial Debt & Budgeting Toolkit

Problem gamblers often get into debt with family, friends, jobs, credit companies and others. Gambling related debt and financial problems are often major reasons that problem gamblers seek help. But before anyone can deal with these financial issues, they need to know what the overall picture really looks like. The FCCG has developed the following Financial Toolkit and Budgeting Guide to help you take control of your finances, now and in the future.

This financial toolkit and budgeting guide is available on <http://www.gamblinghelp.org/resources/toolkits> in both printable and digitally fillable forms.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AWARENESS MATERIALS

MILITARY RESOURCES – ACTIVE/RETIRED/FAMILY MEMBERS/SERVICE PROVIDERS

Combat Gambling Addiction – Military Toolkit

According to published reports, both active and retired military members and their families are susceptible to gambling problems. Every day troops are transitioning back into the communities out of active military duty due to service completion or retirement, a change in life conditions, or other circumstances. Similarly, military family members face numerous pressures, such as relocations and separations from loved ones. A gambling problem can surface for military personnel, veterans and their families when the need for a distraction or an escape becomes an unhealthy coping mechanism, routine or addiction.

The good news is that compulsive gambling is treatable for those who seek and obtain help. Specifics regarding problem gambling and this population are provided in the toolkit Combat Gambling Addiction. The Toolkit includes a PowerPoint presentation for use in educational forums with health care professionals and others furnishing support to the military population.
